Archives

ICPSR (Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research)
ICPSR, established in 1962, is the world’s largest archive of behavioral and social science research data. It provides faculty, staff, and students of approximately 740 member institutions with full access to the data archive of more than 8,000 research studies and over 64,000 datasets. ICPSR also provides education, training, and instructional resources to facilitate social research and data analysis.
https://www.icpsr.umich.edu/icpsrweb/ICPSR/index.jsp

IPUMS-International (Integrated Public Use Microdata Series, International)
IPUMS-International is the world’s largest collection of publicly available individual-level census data. It provides free access to samples from population censuses from around the world taken since 1960, covering 560 million people in 258 censuses from 79 countries.

World Bank Microdata Library
“The Microdata Library is a service established to facilitate access to microdata that provide information about people living in developing countries, their institutions, their environment, their communities and the operation of their economies… The Microdata Library includes datasets that have been produced by the World Bank, such as impact evaluation of the Bank’s operations or research on development issues. The Microdata Library also includes datasets from other international organizations, statistical agencies and other agencies in low and middle-income countries.”

The Dataverse Project
“The Dataverse is an open source web application to share, preserve, cite, explore and analyze research data. It facilitates making data available to others, and allows you to replicate others work. Researchers, data authors, publishers, data distributors, and affiliated institutions all receive appropriate credit. A Dataverse repository hosts multiple dataverses. Each dataverse contains dataset or other dataverses, and each dataset contains descriptive metadata and data files (including documentation and code that accompany the data).”
http://dataverse.org/

Harvard Dataverse Network
“The Harvard Dataverse Network is open to all scientific data from all disciplines worldwide. It includes the world's largest collection of social science research data.”
http://thedata.harvard.edu/dvn/
International Household Survey Network (IHSN)
“The mission of the IHSN is to improve the availability, accessibility, and quality of survey data within developing countries, and to encourage the analysis and use of this data by national and international development decision makers, the research community, and other stakeholders.”

UK data service
“The UK Data Service is a comprehensive resource funded by the ESRC to support researchers, teachers and policymakers who depend on high-quality social and economic data. Here you will find a single point of access to a wide range of secondary data including large-scale government surveys, international macrodata, business microdata, qualitative studies and census data from 1971 to 2011. All are backed with extensive support, training and guidance to meet the needs of data users, owners and creators.”

The ARDA (Association of Religion Data Archives)
“The Association of Religion Data Archives (ARDA) strives to democratize access to the best data on religion. Founded as the American Religion Data Archive in 1997 and going online in 1998, the initial archive was targeted at researchers interested in American religion. The targeted audience and the data collection have both greatly expanded since 1998, now including American and international collections and developing features for educators, journalists, religious congregations, and researchers. Data included in the ARDA are submitted by the foremost religion scholars and research centers in the world.”

China Survey Data Network (CSDN)

“CSDN was established as a joint project between the China Data Center at the University of Michigan and the China Center for Economic Research at Peking University, with the support of the Ford Foundation Beijing Office. The mission of CSDN is to promote sharing of micro data sets on China among researchers both inside and outside of China. By doing so, CSDN seeks to increase the quantity and quality of research on China, and to support the training of students interested in China.”

Survey Research Data Archive (SRDA), Taiwan

“The Survey Research Data Archive (SRDA) was founded in November 1994 to systematically acquire, develop, store and disseminate precious survey research data in Taiwan.”
