Applications for Research Grants

About Singapore Children's Society

Singapore Children's Society, a voluntary welfare organisation has been actively caring for children since 1952. Each year, we reach out to 12,000 children, youths and families in need. Children's Society provides the following core categories of services: Caregiving, Community, Developmental, Preventive, Remedial and Research & Public Education.

Singapore Children's Society Research Grants

We hope to encourage research projects related to family, children and youths. With more up to date information, cost effective planning of social and welfare services for children and families will be possible. Research projects include, but are not restricted to, the following topics:

- Child abuse and neglect
- Childcare and parenting practices
- Marital issues (e.g. Divorce, spousal violence etc.)
- Issues affecting service planning and provision
- Juvenile delinquency
- Schools / education issues
- Other areas related to children and family

We provide a one time grant normally not exceeding $1000 per applicant to support students pursuing research on issues related to family, children and youths at the Undergraduate or Honours levels. Applicants pursuing higher degrees (e.g. Masters, PhD etc.) may be considered for a higher quantum. Expenses supported include transport allowances for field research and material costs.
