Introduction to the Cam Script & Language

Date: Thursday, 4th of October
Time: 6.30 - 7.30pm
AS 3#06-20, Department of Southeast Asian Studies, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences

Cam, an ancient language is still spoken by the Cam people, an ethnic minority group of Vietnam. In this introductory class, we will learn how to write in the Cam script. We will also study and read various ancient Dalukal which contain the myths about Cam kings.

About the Gru (Guru): Mr Mohamed Effendy, will teach the basics of Cam writing. He is currently a PhD Candidate of the University of Hawaii at Manoa & also a Teaching Assistant for the Southeast Asia Studies Department. He has been studying the Surak Cam (Cham manuscript) for several years for his Ph.D dissertation.
